

SUNDAY BEACH & SAMOAN BUFFET

Dep: Aggie Grey's Lagoon, Beach Resort & Spa (10:30 - 3:30)

Dep: Aggie Grey's Hotel (Apia 11:30 – 4:30pm)

Sunday in Samoa is a Day of Rest, going to church and having the most important communal meal of the week (to'ana'i). This tour can do all these things! There is ample time to attend a church service of your choice (own arrangements). For those departing from Aggie Grey's Resort there is a stop at the Malua Theological College en route Apia to view turtles in their natural habitat. We will pick up guests from Aggie Grey's Hotel before continuing our excursion.

This tour is via the main Cross Island Road where a scenic drive is through villages, rainforests, colorful gardens, mountains and awesome views. A stop to stretch and see Papapapaiuta Falls is set in lush surroundings. The water cascades into an old volcanic crater and where the drop in temperature is obvious. Tour continues to the most southern part of Upolu Island to our beach and lunch destination.

Lupesina Bar and Restaurant offers an array of delicious Samoan food as well as Asian and European dishes set in a buffet style. This is your chance to taste our local delicacies that are typical of a Sunday brunch (to'ana'i). The beach is ideal for sunbathing, wading in the water or just relaxing under a shady tree. A few hours (2) will be spent at Lupesina before continuing our tour on the South West Coast. Our return is via the "Plantation Road" where lots of local produce is grown and most of these are sold at the Fresh Produce Market. Samoans immaculately dressed in white for an afternoon service is a definite "must" for the camera! A stop at Aggie Grey's Resort to drop off passengers is made before heading back to Apia with the last stop at Malua to see turtles. The tour arrives back at Aggie Grey's Hotel at 5:00pm

Includes: bottled water, lunch, towels and guided tour

Note – drinks at Lupesina Bar & Restaurant at own expense
